

Color the trail

Snow goose

(Anser caerulescens)

“The white brant is very common in this country particularly below tidewater where they remain in vast quantities during the winter. they feed like the swan gees &c on the grass roots and seeds which they find in the marshes.” —Meriwether Lewis. March 8, 1806. Fort Clatsop, present day Oregon