Olmsted Associates began landscape design work for Mississippi State University in the early 1950s. The firm's last plan for the project was generated in 1978. The Olmsted Archives houses 913 plans and drawings of the campus and twenty-one file folders of job-related correspondence.<sup>1</sup>

These documents were found with a large group of periodicals in the planting department of the office wing. Most of the materials were stored in a black file box (Catalog# FRLA-48013) labeled "Mississippi State University #9989 Miscellaneous Reports and Brochures." In addition to brochures and reports, the collection includes serial publications of Mississippi State University such as Mississippi Business Review and the campus newspaper, The Reflector. The first four folders in Box 1 are the only files that contain materials generated by Olmsted Associates.
