Medical Incidents

Non-medical staff members or volunteers should request medical assistance via Channel 1 or via the phone number (to be determined and provided before event day). The following information should be reported:

- Exact location
- Brief description of the problem
- Age and gender of injured/ill person (if possible)
- Any care that has already been provided
- A cell phone or other contact number of someone at the scene

Staff members and/or volunteers should remain with the injured/ill person until medical staff arrive and assume care. The patient should be kept still. If weather conditions are unfavorable, keep the patient dry and cool or warm as appropriate and possible. Do not move the patient. Try to obtain patient name and emergency contact information for EMS personnel. EMS will provide initial onsite care, stabilize the patient, and transfer the patient as appropriate. The GW MFA Medical Director can be consulted to determine the appropriate disposition for the patient (treat/release, transport to medical station, or transport to the hospital).
