The Storytellers...

Madafo Lloyd Wilson

The African Storyteller, Musician, Historian, Poet, Teacher, Chronicler of Tradition... Madafo tells classic tales for the young and elder, recites poetry written by the masters and plays the music of the sage. The works of Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, Kahlil Gibran and other favorite authors are presented in this delightful and insightful program of timeless laughter, folk literature and song.

Priscilla Howe

Storyteller Priscilla Howe, a native New Englander, comes to us from Lawrence, KS, where she lives with her cat, Francis Bacon. A former children's librarian, Priscilla has been a full-time storyteller and puppeteer since 1993. She travels around the country and abroad, telling stories in schools, libraries, conferences, festivals and special events. She's always searching for new stories to tell, as well as for the best restaurant pie on earth.

Linda Gorham

Linda Gorham's performances are filled with surprising twists, unexpected turns and unconventional humor. For the past 25 years, Linda has engaged audiences of all ages with interactive folktales, distinctive myths and notably twisted fairy tales; riveting, well-researched historical stories; and humorously heartfelt stories about family life. Each performance is infused with her unique, signature 'sophisticated attitude'.
