COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

The Historic Photograph Files were constructed over time by park staff, and most of the photographs appear to have been taken by park staff. The range of topics include Visitor Center museum exhibits, park biology, park infrastructure, natural and manmade disasters (flooding, the fall of Threatening Rock, road washouts, pipeline breaks, vehicular accidents), erosion control efforts, park archaeology, NPS Visitor Center and residence construction, and New Mexico images.

At some point, this collection of historic photographs was moved from the Visitor Center to the Collection Storage Building in the park for eventual inclusion in the museum collection. In 2002, Joyce Raab, Archivist, and Dave Six, Volunteer Photographer, moved the collection from small metal drawer cabinets to filing cabinets with card sized drawers. They determined the original order to be the Photograph Filing System for Region Three of the National Park Service, dated February 1958. As originally devised, this filing system was envisioned with all negatives, filed numerically, kept in the Region Three Office. In addition, print file cards were also to be stored at the Region Three Office and filed according to numerical classification codes based on subject, as determined by the Dewey decimal filing system. However, many superintendents preferred to retain negatives and print file cards of their areas in their own files. It is unknown if Coll 0018/001 was ever stored in the regional office. By the time it made its way to the museum collection, it had been housed at the park for a significant period of time.

A copy of the NPS Region Three Photograph Filing System, with the Subject Class Numbers used by the NPS, is filed in the accession folder. The numbers used by the NPS differ somewhat from the modern Dewey Decimal System numbers.

It appears that negative numbers were assigned first, and then the images were assigned Classification Codes based on the Dewey decimal system, then sorted by the codes and then by negative number. In most cases, the creator eliminated the print file card by pasting a print on the back of the negative envelope.

Cataloging and data entry notes: For this collection, the NPS Subject Classification Number is recorded in the Associated Materials field as a number than can be sorted. The Physical Description field is used to record the location where the image was taken (i.e., Visitor Center, Pueblo Bonito) and the "purpose" of the image, if that information is available. The Physical Characteristics field contains information, if known, about whether or not there is a Safety Negative and where the photocard, if any, is housed. The Summary Notes field tallies the different formats of the image.

COLLECTION NUMBER	0018
CATALOG NUMBER	CHCU 83193
VOLUME	[Count]301[Extent] [Type of Unit]EA
DESCRIPTION	Contains prints in a wide variety of sizes and conditions. In the case of the Historic Photograph Files, 4 x 5" prints were often cropped, then pasted onto NPS negative envelopes or photocard. Negative envelope contains both the negative and any additional prints of the image. There are also print file cards interspersed in this collection, but for the most part they do not have Chaco negative numbers. These may have come from the Regional Office or the Southwest Archaeological Center. There are no negatives for these images. A small portion of the collection includes pre-1950s negatives, presumed to be nitrates. These were examined by a photograph conservator, Sarah Wagner, during the NPS Cold Storage Initiative packing project in March 2008, and were deemed stable enough to be filed with the other negatives and put in cold storage. Images are cataloged at the item level and scanned at 150 dpi. 8X10 prints of some images are housed in a photo album in negative number order.
ORGANIZATION	[ORGANIZATION] Organized into the following series that have been identified as the major categories of images in this collection; For data management purposes, the Classification Code will be entered in the Associated

Material field for each item record:

Series .001: 069 Museum Science Images

Series .002: 300 Social & Economic Images

Series .003: 500-550 Earth Science Images

Series .004: 571 Archaeology Images

Series .005: 580-599 Biology Images

Series .006: 600-700 Engineering & Architecture Images

Series .007: 900 History of New Mexico Images

Series .008: Miscellaneous Images by Year. This last series was added at the end of the collection by the users, but Classification Codes were never assigned.

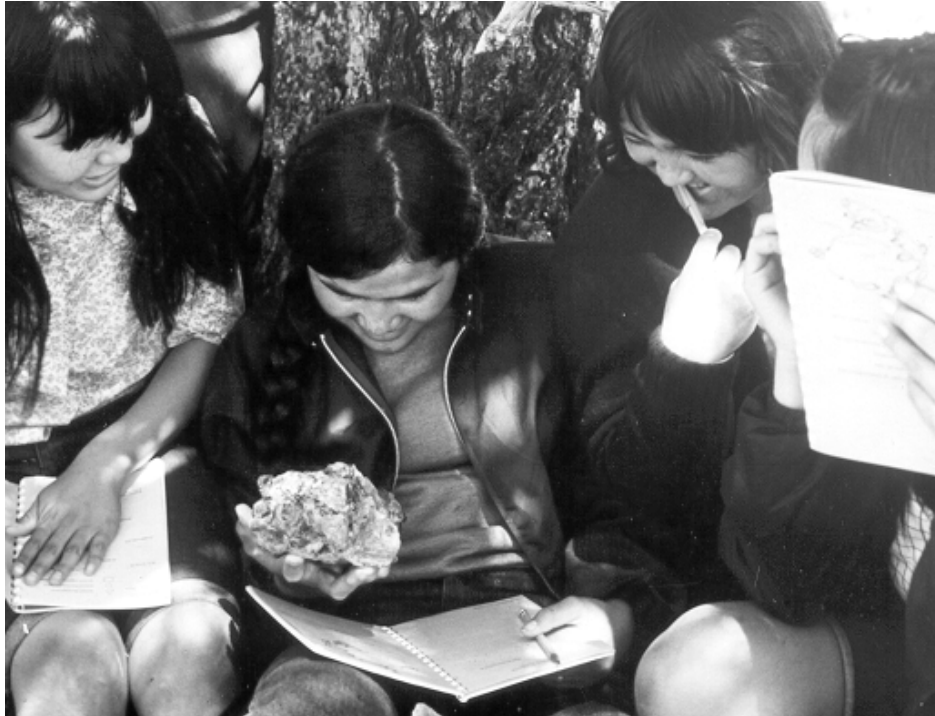

[ARRANGEMENT] The original order remains the structural arrangement of this collection. Negatives have been removed and stored in the Negative Collection, in negative number order. Prints, print file cards, and negative envelopes with affixed prints remain filed first by the numerical Classification Codes and then by the negative number, and stored in photo cabinets.
