Harpers Ferry
Nov. 19. 1862

Dear Mother

I write to you reposing on a real frame bedstead with bed clothes & sheets, or at least one sheet on it, & if you would know the reason for this unwonted oriental luxury, it is that I have been detailed by the Major General, Slocum, to the hazardous and responsible duty of commanding a party of carpenters at work on the Hospital at Harpers Ferry, & have the privilege of boarding near and paying my own board. Lieut. Gray staff officer of the Co

Received at Harpers Ferry from J. B. S. Thinks it Shall bought the same here days before)
