Private vessels over 75 feet in total length* and 22 feet total beam* are prohibited without a Special Use Permit.

> Total Length defined: For the purpose of this Compendium, the term "total length" will be determined by a straight line measurement from the foremost part of the vessel to the aftmost part of the vessel, measured end-to-end over the deck excluding sheet, and measured parallel to the centerline, with all appurtenances, (excluding gangplanks) in a fully extended position. It includes all temporary and permanent appurtenances. Manually operated gangplanks designed for passenger boarding that retracts flush with the hull when the vessel is underway will be exempted from the appurtenance clause.

*The term "total length" used in this section includes appurtenances such as bowsprits, slide outs, rudders, outboard motor brackets, davits, booms, platforms, slides, handles, fittings, attachments, and extensions. Inclusion of moveable appurtenances in their fully extended, deployed, or operating configuration as part of the total measurement of the vessel will place a limit on the length of vessels that may be operated with such equipment deployed. Deployment of appurtenances may be intentional, particularly if the equipment was designed to be deployed while underway, or may be accidental, particularly if the equipment was not secured properly.

Total Beam defined: For the purpose of this Compendium, the term "total beam" will be determined by a straight-line measurement from the outermost sides of the vessel at its widest point with all appurtenances in a fully extended position. It includes all temporary and permanent appurtenances. Manually operated gangplanks designed for passenger boarding that retracts flush with the hull when the vessel is underway will be exempted from the appurtenance clause.
