Graham Humphrey

Graham Humphrey - Education Intern

Graham Humphrey came to Harpers Ferry NHP in January of 2010 and began by interning in the curatorial department and conducting research for Visitor Services/Interpretation. He is now a full time intern with the Education Department and has helped with the Harpers Ferry Middle School vodcast project, the Jr. NYLC program, grant writing, curriculum development and anything else he is asked to do.

Since graduating in 2008 from Brandeis University with a B.A. in Art History, he has spent a year at Saint-Gaudens NHS serving two terms as a Student Conservation Association intern under the curator. While at Saint-Gaudens, he also volunteered with the curator at Marsh Billings NHP assisting with their annual inventory. He has also spent three months at Appomattox Court House NHP updating their housekeeping plan and working with Harpers Ferry Center to implement their cold storage plan. He is now enrolled in the museum studies masters program at Johns Hopkins University.

Originally from Rhode Island, Graham has had a life-long passion for the outdoors including hiking, biking and sailing and also enjoys history, visiting museums and traveling. He feels fortunate to live in scenic Harpers Ferry and work under a dedicated and talented staff with the opportunity to interact with children on a daily basis. He looks forward to the day when he can get a permanent job with the National Park Service.

Thank you Graham for all of your hard work!
