

The Thirty Fifth President

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

Son of Joseph and Rose Kennedy, brother of Joe Jr., Bobby, and Teddy

Great sense of humor, awesome football thrower, outstanding leader, ambitious, courageous, determined, bold, listener, intelligent, experienced, persistent, skinny, handsome

He felt strongly about: civil rights, Peace Corps, space race, other people, reading, football, public service.

He worked hard to: become an incredible president, spend time with his family, change the world, form the Peace Corps, change unfair laws, save his crewmates on PT-109, stop segregation, send someone to the moon, write his books, be a leader, give freedom to all.

He imagined a world where: there was no war, there was equality and kindness, people were fair and thoughtful, people were listeners, people were respectful, there was no segregation, there was no poverty.

JFK teaches us the importance of: caring, peace, fairness, doing what is right, love, helping others, being brave, family, never giving up, importance of all people, being grateful, doing the best you can, following our dreams, new ideas, courage.
