

West Side Environmental Education Intern Live, Work and Teach in Rocky Mountain National Park!

As an environmental education intern on the west side of Rocky Mountain National Park, you will gain experience presenting curriculum-driven EE programming in classrooms and on-site in the park, operating a visitor center, and presenting thematic interpretive programs. You will also increase your knowledge of natural and cultural resources and park management.

Area Information

Rocky Mountain National Park is located 70 miles northwest of Denver and consists of 415 sq. miles of high mountain scenery carved and sculpted by glaciers. Elevations range from 8,000-14,000 feet. Wildlife includes elk, bighorn sheep, coyotes, mountain lions, moose, pika, black bears, and a variety of birds. Trail Ridge Road provides access to the alpine tundra while connecting the east and west sides of park. There are over 355 miles of trails in the park. More information is available at www.nps.gov/romo.

Qualifications

Rocky Mountain National Park seeks college students or recent graduates of exceptional ability with a background in natural science, history, communication, education, recreation and resource management or related fields. Candidates should have excellent communication and teamwork skills, including the ability to present formal presentations or tours. Flexibility, reliability, and willingness to learn are also desired.

Duties and Responsibilities

Duties include: presenting curriculum-driven EE programs in classrooms and on-site in the park, working with children, researching, preparing and presenting interpretive natural and cultural history programs to a variety of diverse audiences, answering questions at park visitor centers and communicating current park issues in a professional manner to the public. Additional duties include working as a team with park volunteer, seasonal, and permanent staff. Must possess a valid driver's license and have the ability to work on uneven terrain about 8,500 feet.
