

TEACHER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SERIES

PRESENTED BY NATUREBRIDGE AND THE NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

NatureBridge and the National Park Service are teaming up to provide free after-school workshops aimed at helping teachers use the schoolyard as a classroom.

PROGRAM INCLUDES

- Simple strategies designed to get students outdoors
- Exploration of environmental education pedagogies
- Lessons cover 6th and 7th grade science content standards with emphasis on adaptations, and form and function of pollinators and flowers
- Presentation on NatureBridge and National Park Service programming
- Ready-to-use resources for the classroom
- Best practice sharing

NatureBridge is a nationally recognized leader, providing environmental education to 1 million K-12 youth and teachers since 1971.
