Permits are issued during normal operating hours by trailhead rangers who provide important area information. There are no "night drops." You can pick up your wilderness permit on the afternoon prior to your hike date (after 1:00) or by 9:00 am on the morning of your entry date. If you need to pick up your permit later than 9:00 am on the morning of your entry date, notify the Wilderness Office (559-565-3766 or seki_wilderness_office@nps.gov).

If you do not make arrangements for a late pickup, your reservation will be cancelled at 9:00 am and your spots may be given to people waiting for walk-up permits.

Frequently Asked Questions

Can I make changes to my trip after my application is processed?

Changes to the entry date or trail and increases in group size must be made at least one week before your entry date. Additional people will incur an additional $5/person fee if quota space is available. Any additional changes result in a $10 processing fee. (Changes to reduce group size can be made at any time with no additional cost.) Once processed The fee is not refundable.

When are permits required? When are entry trail quotas in place?

Permits are required year-round for all overnight wilderness trips. Daily entry-trail quotas and fees are in place from the Friday before Memorial Day through late September. Outside the quota period, permits are self-issued at visitor centers or permit stations. Permits are not required for day hikes. Permits for the Lakes Trail (to Emerald and Pear Lakes) cannot be reserved, and are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Are there limits on group sizes?

The maximum group size is 15 people, 10 in Redwood Canyon, and 12 when traveling off maintained trails (In certain areas group size limit of 8 when off maintained trails). Your group must use the entry trail on the entry date shown in the confirmation letter, and travel together throughout the trip. If your group is larger than 15, you must split into smaller groups that travel and camp at least ½-mile apart. Please be aware of changes to party size limits when traveling with stock. You can find more information in the Wilderness Trip Planner.
