

Park Boundary Trailhead Access

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior
Shenandoah National

2018

This information can change. Check the Hiking Alerts page of the website for updates: www.nps.gov/shen/planyourvisit/alerts.htm. This information is provided for visitor trip planning purposes to help insure appropriate recreational use of these trailheads. Please respect private landowners by staying on the trail in zones that pass through private lands. Observe the limited parking availability at trailheads. Alternate trail access from the Skyline Drive is encouraged.

Please pay the park entrance fee at any park entrance station or self-pay fee station. The individual fee is $15. Self-pay fee stations are available at the following park boundary trailheads: Berry Hollow, Whiteoak Canyon, and the Old Rag parking area at Nethers. A Shenandoah National Park annual pass and other long-term passes may be purchased at the Park or by mail. These fees are important to supporting the maintenance and rehabilitation of park trails.

Park boundary trailhead accesses are generally in remote areas. Be sure to secure valuables and lock your vehicle. Changes to trailhead access and parking conditions may occur without notice.
