ELEVENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 11th Kentucky Infantry was organized in December, 1861, at Calhoon, Kentucky, under Colonel P. B. Hawkins, and was mustered into the United States service by Major W. H. Sidell, United States Mustering Officer. After remaining at Calhoon a short time after organization, it was ordered to Tennessee, and participated in the battle of Shiloh. From that date until mustered out it was actively engaged, and participated in all the early battles in Tennessee. The officers of this command having failed to furnish a historic record of the part which it took in suppressing the great rebellion, and the regimental papers having been captured by the enemy at Pulaski, Tennessee, in November, 1864, it is impossible to furnish, from the records on file in the Adjutant General's Office of Kentucky, a succinct statement of its marches, engagements, &c. It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Shiloh, Stone River, and Knoxville, Tennessee, and the battles incident to the Atlanta campaign. It was mustered out at Bowling Green, Kentucky, on the 16th December, 1864, the recruits and veterans being transferred to Company I, of the 6th Veteran Cavalry.
