

Junior Ranger Activity Book

ULYSSES S. GRANT
NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE

Ages 11 and up

Welcome to Ulysses S. Grant National Historic Site!

We are glad that you are here today. This booklet is for kids ages 11 and older who want to become Junior Rangers and receive a Junior Ranger badge. In order to do so you must complete the following requirements:

1. Watch the park video.
2. Tour the historic home called White Haven and its outbuildings.
3. Visit the museum.
4. Do three of the first six activities in this booklet.

BONUS: The last activity is something for you to do after you leave the park.

Your parent, grandparent, scout leader or other adult partner may help you with these requirements. If you need additional help, ask a park ranger. Begin your journey at the front desk. When you are finished, bring the completed book to the Visitor Center to receive your Junior Ranger badge and to have a park ranger sign your Junior Ranger certificate.

4. In what state was Ulysses S. Grant's birthplace? _____
5. General Robert E. Lee surrendered to General Grant in April 1865, ending the American Civil War. What is the name of the place where Grant accepted Lee's surrender? _____
6. The capture of Forts Henry and Donelson in 1862 was the Union's first major victory in the Civil War, and earned Grant a new nickname. What was that nickname? _____
7. Ulysses S. Grant served as the 18th president of the United States from 1869 to 1877. For eight years, the White House was the family's home, some of their happiest times together. Which of the Grants' children got married in the White House in 1874? _____

White Haven: A View from the Past

Look below at the 1860 photograph of White Haven. Do the math to figure out how long ago it was taken.

Write the current year.
Subtract the year the picture was taken. - 1860
How long ago was it taken? years ago

Stand on the walkway at the corner of the fence. Look at White Haven, compare it to the photo, and see how the house and yard have changed over the years.

List two things that are the SAME. List two things that are DIFFERENT.

Which do you prefer, today's view, or the 1860 view? Why?

In Search of the Past

Objects, photographs, and documents, called primary sources, give us clues about the past.

- Objects can be passed down from people or found in the ground where people lived.
- Photographs were often kept as keepsakes.
- Documents are any paper records. Some were made for public use, like newspapers, bulletins and court records. Others, like letters, diaries and memoirs (written memories) were written by individuals for private use.

By studying objects, photographs, and documents related to the Grants, the Dents, and the slaves, we gain clues to understand them better.

Explore the house and museum to answer the following questions.

Find an object. What is it? Where did you find it? What might it have been used for? What do you think it says about the people who used it?

Find a photograph relating to the farm or the people who lived here. Briefly describe the photo and where you found it. Examine it closely, and write what you think it tells us about the people, farm, or activities pictured.

Find a document. Briefly describe the type of document, who created it, and where you found it. What evidence in the document helps you learn about the person who wrote it?

You Be the Historian

Imagine that you are a historian who is writing a book about General Grant's Civil War experiences. In order to do so you will have to study his Civil War battles.

Go to one of the three computers in the Dedicated Public Servant section of the museum, and bring up the material that deals with General Grant's battles. Pick one of the listed battles and read the Overview and Aftermath sections:

Belmont
Fort Henry
Fort Donelson

Shiloh
Vicksburg
Chattanooga

Cold Harbor
Petersburg

Explain below why you think that battle was important to General Grant's Civil War experience.

The National Park Service

From lofty mountain peaks to the low deserts, from volcanoes to glaciers, and from ancient dwellings to presidential homes, the National Park Service cares for special places set aside by the American people so all may experience our heritage. Established on August 25, 1916, the National Park Service protects and preserves America's treasures in the fifty United States and the territories of American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

When you see the arrowhead symbol, you will know you are in a National Park Service site.

Find your home state. How many National Park Service sites can you name from your state?

Name three National Park Service sites located in different states. Pick one you'd like to visit and ask for more information at the front desk.

BONUS: You Be In Charge

The person in charge of a National Park is called a SUPERINTENDENT. On this page write a letter to the Superintendent and explain what you like best about this park, or what you would do to make it better. The Junior Rangers who write letters will receive a personal reply from the Superintendent! You may use a separate sheet of paper if you wish.
